

THE WALL STREET JOURNAL.

The Short List

A selected guide to arts and entertainment

December 10, 2010

The Shootist

William Albert Allard, Steven Kasher Gallery, New York, through Jan. 8
With almost 50 years of work on assignment for National Geographic, Mr. Allard is a reminder that the magazine's famed photography is more than just exotic landscapes and remote tribes. His characters include a 17-year-old buckaroo at a cow camp in Nevada and the Italian actress Benedetta Buccellato in a black veil and candy-apple-red lipstick. The exhibit features over 30 large-scale color photographs.

—John Jurgensen, Katherine Bindley, Ellen Gamerman, Amy Chozick