BROAD APPEAL

January 31, 2010

A wildly diverse crowd turned out at Steven Kasher Gallery in Chelsea for Timothy Greenfield-Sanders' photos of "Supermodels from the '70s and '80s." Alongside portrait subjects Karen Bjornson and Nancy Donahue were poet Mark Strand, port star Michael Lucas, music legends Michelle Phillips and Lou Reed, media mogul Norman Pearlstine with Jane Boon, drag queen Sultana, feminist Kate Millett and fashion icons Jade Hobson and Grace Mirabella. Asked if she preferred the past to the present, Mirabella, who started Vogue in 1952, replied, "When you're enjoying yourself, time doesn't matter."
